About The Journal

Aims

Macrolinguistics and Microlinguistics (MaMi) Journal is a quarterly publication for all those involved in linguistics, whether as micro linguistics and macro linguistics or as an international Lingua Franca. The Journal links the everyday concerns of practitioners and linguists with insights gained from relevant academic disciplines such as linguistics, culture, and language.

MaMi Journal aims to provide a medium for an informed discussion of the principles and practice which explore, investigate, elaborate about the phenomenon for linguistics and culture around the world. It also provides a forum for the exchange of information and ideas among members of the profession worldwide. MaMi Journal publishes research into linguistics with relevance to real-world issues. The journal is keen to help make connections between scholarly discourses, theories, and research methods from a broad range of linguistic and other relevant areas of study. The journal welcomes contributions that critically reflect on current, cutting edge theory and practice in the linguistics field.

The Editor of MaMi Journal is supported by an Advisory Board which assists the Editor in guiding the development of the Journal, and by an Editorial Panel whose members referee submissions.

The journal's Forum section is intended to stimulate debate between authors and the wider community of linguists and to afford a quicker turnaround time for short pieces. Forum pieces are typically a commentary on research issues or professional practices or responses to a published article. Forum pieces are required to exhibit originality, timeliness and a contribution to, or stimulation of, a current debate. The journal also contains a Review section.

Scope

The subject area is Arts and Humanities categorized Linguistics and Language and Language and Linguistics. Macrolinguistics and Microlinguistics publishes articles and book reviews in the traditional subdisciplines of linguistics as well as in related disciplines insofar as these are deemed to be of interest to linguists. This includes grammar, both functional and formal, with a focus on semantics, syntax, morphology, phonetics, and phonology, pragmatics and discourse, psycholinguistics, and sociolinguistics. The focus may be on one or several languages, but studies with a wide cross-linguistic (typological) and cross-cultural coverage are also welcome. The perspective could be synchronic or diachronic. Macrolinguistics and Microlinguistics also publish one special issue a year in these areas, for which it welcomes proposals. Macrolinguistics and Microlinguistics is a double-blind peer-reviewed journal of international scope. Keywords: social sciences; linguistics; languages; macro linguistics; micro linguistics.
